Oscoda and AuSable

Wiped Out By Fire

Flames Devastate the Twin Cities and Leave Only a Few Scattered Buildings Standing

WAS A TERRIBLE HOLOCAUST

The Loss is Estimated at From $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 With Practically No Insurance. Hundreds of People Lose Their All. Relief Trains Rushed to Aid of Sufferers.

ONLY THREE PEOPLE KNOWN TO BE BURNED

Samuel Rosenthal, tailor, and William Batt, chore man at the Elliot House, are known to be dead. The burned trunk of Batt and an unidentified man were found together on the main street of Oscoda at the tramway crossing. By the time the bodies were found, the second man is thought to have been an Italian peddler seen in town Monday.

Oscoda and AuSable were practically wiped out of existence by fire Tuesday afternoon and evening. Forest fires in the vicinity of the D. & M. station, a mile from the towns were driven by the strong southwest winds into the cedar yard of the Loud Co. The dry cedar bark and slabs made a fierce flame which was carried across the river into the village of Oscoda, where it consumed the entire business part of the town and all but 30 of the residences.

What few homes were saved, was by the most heroic work of the people and sudden change of the wind to the north.

The shift of the wind to the north was the direct cause of the destruction of AuSable, as it carried the flames from the burning buildings in Oscoda back across the river, firing the big Loud mill, and from there to the balance of the city. But 13 buildings are left in AuSable, and nearly every one of these were far removed from adjoining buildings and surrounded by barren sand.

The escape of the people was in nearly all cases very narrow, and the heroic acts would fill columns of news paper space if all recorded. About 280 people of Oscoda escaped on the steam barge Niko, a lumber carrier which had just arrived for a cargo of lumber. These people were landed at Port Huron, where they were cared for.

Others took refuge in the lake where they stood submerged to their necks for hours.

Others took to the plains and clearing in the vicinity. Considering everything the loss of life is very small.

Little but the clothing they wore was saved. Some few succeeded in getting out with a few things and others saved some by burying it in the sand.

The fire burned so rapidly and fiercely that few realized the actual danger until they were forced to flee for their lives.

Practically without food, clothing or shelter the night was spent on the beach, on the sand plains or anywhere that safety could be felt.

Relief trains were sent from the Tawas and several hundred were brought to East Tawas where they were cared for. A train was made up which left Tawas City at 11:30 with food provided by the people of the Tawas for the relief of those who still remained in the burned towns. The committee in charge began supplying the sufferers with provisions on its arrival.

More provisions were sent from these towns Wednesday morning, and later trains arrived from Bay City, Alpena and other points with relief. The situation was soon in hand, and all are now

Obituary.

Harbor Beach Times.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wright, has again been visited by the hand of death, taking as its victim Miss Elizabeth, their daughter, who succumbed to the ravishes of that king of diseases, consumption, at six o'clock Wednesday morning.

Elizabeth had been ailing for the past two years, and for the past several months she had been making a most desperate battle for life, but her frail body was insufficient to stand the strain and a few weeks ago, while in Colorado, where she went last June in hopes the change would assist her to win out, she gave up all hopes and went for her father to come and take her home, which he did arriving here about three weeks ago.

This excellent young lady spent all of her life, with the exception of the past four years, in Port Sanilac where she was born February 12, 1880. When 16 years old she was converted and joined the Congregational church. She was a sweet, joyous person, one of those thoroughly good people whose existence shed a glow of happiness in her home and she lived as she had lived, a firm believer in her Master and Creator.

The funeral service will be held at the house this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The remains will be taken on the morning train to Port Sanilac for burial.

AuSable - A Ghost Town?

The story of AuSable, once a prosperous incorporated city of nearly 10,000 population, makes this city the most spectacular ghost town in the state.

First settled in 1851, until 1857 all mail was addressed either to Bay City or Tawas. The first postoffice was established in 1857. Elijah Grandy was the first postmaster. In 1879 the postoffice was moved to Oscoda, on the opposite side of the river. In 1877 it was again moved to AuSable and James E. Forrest appointed postmaster. George P. Warner, former postmaster, retained that position at Oscoda.

The first docks were built in 1868. The first sawmill was built in 1873 and four years later burned to the ground. In 1877 described as situated at the mouth of the AuSable River, incorporated as a village on Oct. 15, 1872. "The population at present numbers about 1,500. The lumber interest occupies most of the people. Six large sawmills are engaged in the manufacture of lumber, one sash and blind factory, three stores, three hotels, three churches, a bank and other interests. During the navigation season shipments are made via Bay City. Lumber, timber, salt, and fish are exported."

In 1877 the Loud Company owned two sawmills, two salt blocks, a huge dock, several railroad lines, a line of tow barges and large holdings of standing pine. Along with other lumbermen of their day enough lumber was cut at AuSable within a 30 year period to build a board fence 8 feet high that would encircle the world 20 times at the equator.

In that year the Loud Company had ten camps operating in the woods. In 1872, 400 men were employed in the mills at AuSable. During his two terms in Congress George A. Loud proposed a bill which established the Huron National Forest.

In 1891 the Loud's ran seven log trains a day over their AuSable-Northwestern Railroad. The Loud family practically built the eventual city of AuSable, and in the end were mainly responsible for its downfall and total disappearance.

The beginning of the end for AuSable began on a hot summer day in 1894. As one old timer put it, "If that dock-walloper had kept his kid home where she belonged everything would be hunky-dory!"

The dock worker referred to was a Mr. Shippey, who came home for lunch everyday from the nearby docks where he worked. One noon he arrived home at the usual time and his wife discovered there was no meat for dinner. She gave her six year old daughter, Laura, some money and told her to run down town to the meat market and buy some frankfurters. As the little girl neared the market she was skipping along on the walk when she tripped on a broken plank and broke her leg. A few days later father appeared at the village council meeting and asked for $150 to pay for the doctor bill incurred from the accident. The city fathers said they would take it under advisement and he returned home.

Sometime later, after hearing nothing from the city council, he contacted a lawyer. The lawyer said he would gladly take the case on a percentage fee basis. He asked the city for $2,000 damages. About the same time, the city was in the process of improving the city water works.

Eugene Field's

Views on Ambition and Dyspepsia.

"Dyspepsia," wrote Eugene Field, "often incapacitates a man for endeavor and sometimes extinguishes the fire of ambition." Though great despite his complaint Field suffered from indigestion all his life. A weak, tired stomach can't digest your food. It needs rest. You can only rest it by the use of a preparation like Kodol, which relieves it of work by digesting your food. Rest soon restores it to its normal tone.

July 5, 1877. A FEW SCRAPS FROM THE TAWASES.

The steamer Bertchy left here yesterday about noon enroute for Tawas. We noticed quite a number from each town taking advantage of the opportunity to get away from the stagnant and oppressive silence of Oscoda and Au Sable. The Bertchy arrived at Tawas City about half past one, where the excursionists from Oscoda and Au Sable met with a very friendly reception from a number who were too full for utterance. From thence The Stand-Bys and Rough and Readies proceeded to East Tawas to win their laurels from the Mutuals. The balance of the excursionists fell into a grand procession headed by the band and Calachumpians. We have not received any authentic account of the results of the day, but from the little we have been able to glean from one that was present they had quite a day of it, between wrestling matches, bowery dancing and rope walking, they had quite a lot of fun. A very exciting wrestling match took place between Dick Burke of Au Sable, and Joe Kennedy of Tawas. Dick came off victorious, giving his opponent two falls out of off the prize. Mr. P. Shien took the prize for standing jump.

The greatest interest of the day seemed to centre in East Tawas, where a very exciting game of base ball took place for a magnificent silver cup, between the Stand-Bys of Au Sable, and the Mutuals of East Tawas. Mr. Joselyn made a few introductory remarks before the contest began, exhibiting the prize which was to be awarded to the successful winners in nine innings. The Stand-Bys won the toss and took the field. The Mutuals going to the bat. The umpire W. H. Redmond, of Grand Rapids, deserves great credit for his manly and impartial decisions, he was a stranger to both clubs. The following is the score:

AuSable - A Ghost Town?

After some time passed the case was taken to court and a Circuit Court Jury awarded the Shippeys $2000 damages. The city then requested a bond issue of $15,000 which was approved by the voters. This money was to include the price of improvements plus the damage award to Shippey.

Although AuSable was a booming city and there was no doubt but what payments could be made on the bond issue, another unfortunate incident occurred. H. M. Loud conducted most of the lumber business in the area. His mills were a part of the city environs and produced much of the revenue to meet its operating costs. He successfully petitioned the state to have his land holding removed from the city limits, therefore removing them from the city tax rolls. When the bonds became redeemable in 1908, the city was unable to meet their obligations.

A short time later, July of 1911, another disaster struck the city. Fire raged through the city uncontrolled for several days. During the holocaust a lumber barge took 300 women and children aboard and docked out in Lake Huron to save them from the fire. At the same time the twin city of Oscoda was also caught up in flames. When the fire finally was brought under control only 12 houses and two school buildings remained in AuSable.

For every one dollar of assessed valuation in the city, each person was assessed $9 for payment on the bond issue at compound interest. By 1929 there were only fifty residents within the corporate limits. They disorganized as a city to avoid suit.

Thus ended AuSable, that had been a town for three quarters of a century. Settled in 1850, before the Civil War, incorporated as a village Oct. 15, 1872; and as a city in 1889; died in 1920 and buried in 1929.

Cause of Lockjaw.

Lockjaw, or tetanus, is caused by a bacillus or germ which exists plentifully in street dirt. It is inactive so long as exposed to the air, but when carried beneath the skin as in the wounds caused by percussion caps or by rusty nails, and when the air is excluded the germ is roused to activity and produces the most virulent poison known. These germs may be destroyed and all danger of lockjaw avoided by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely as soon as an antiseptic and causes cuts, bruises and like injuries to heal without maturation and in one third the time required by the usual treatment. It is for sale by Markham, Os-

WAS AN ACCIDENT

Defense Says So In Flood Murder Case.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 4.—The defense opened Tuesday in the trial of Mrs. Flood, charged with the murder of John London, and as outlined its argument will be that the fatal shot was accidental, the gun going off when London, who was seated at the table, drew it toward him.

His testimony as a medical expert was to the effect that in his opinion, judging from the nature of the wound, the shot could not have been fired from the pantry by a person standing there; it but was from below.

Charles L. Slade, who served in the Spanish war, testified that he had seen 300 or more wounded soldiers, and from the description of the wound drew the inference that it was an accidental shot.

ATTRACTIVE WOMEN.

All women sensibly desire to be attractive. Beauty is the stamp of health because it is the outward manifestation of inner purity. A healthy woman is always attractive, bright and happy. When every drop of blood in the veins is pure a beautiful flush is on the cheek. But when the blood is impure, moroseness, bad temper and a sallow complexion tells the tale of sickness, all too plainly. And women today know there is no beauty without health. Wine of Cardui crowns women with beauty and attractiveness by making strong and healthy those organs which make her a woman. Try Wine of Cardui, and in a month your friend will hardly know you.
